

About RLR Management Consulting

RLR Management Consulting, Inc. (RLR) has offered financial institutions solutions to their banking challenges since 1988. Founded by Ruth L. Razook, RLR is a nationwide consulting firm focused on providing high quality consulting assistance to financial institutions in the areas of corporate strategy, organizational analysis, operations, project management, information technology and payments.

RLR has served hundreds of clients nationwide, from De Novo Banks to multi-billion dollar Financial Services companies. We serve local Community Banks to mid-sized Regional Banks and Credit Unions. In addition, we provide consulting services to Vendors, and to Third Party Service Providers.

RLR delivers solutions through hands-on, personalized service. We offer our clients support and solutions to complex business problems. We believe in partnering with our clients every step of the way to provide them with the evaluation, planning, design, and implementation of high quality, cost-effective solutions.

RLR consultants possess strong capabilities and broad experience assisting clients in assessing their current environment, formulating new and creative tactical and strategic alternatives, and implementing positive change. Our staff is comprised of seasoned professionals with extensive banking and technology management experience.
